

CREATIVE CONSULTATION APP

Please type in the following information:

Full Name:

*Email:

Address (Street, City, State, Zip, Country):

Home Phone:

Office Phone:

Cell Phone:

Website(s):

Birthday:

Marital Status:

Directions:

Please read and fill out this questionnaire. Then save it and email it to jransomthecreator@gmail.com. Save the file with your name and Profile. For example: James Brown-Profile.doc

Introduction:

If you have this app you probably are well aware of exactly who I am. You have seen my store or products. You have been to my site, you are on my social media pages. So you know that I am a creator. You know I am music producer, songwriter and artist. You know enough things about on me. But let me tell you more.

So in 2015 I had this dream and awakening. I had looked back on my life and really asked myself some important questions. I was 28 had been published and self-published books, signed deals for music, currently had a publishing and worldwide music distribution deal. I had 5 websites and was pulling in anywhere between 4,000 to 8,000 views a month. I had a legitimate 9,000 (Non-paid) followers on Social Media.

Not bad for someone who decided their path at the age of 26. I had been writing my entire life creatively but only had been making music for 2 or 3 years before I was offered a deal. I had just started taking my creativity and brand seriously and finding myself. I published my first book with a small publisher at the age of 18 and my second at the age of 21. I really only published the books because I wanted to do something most people I know had not done.

I did not even take it serious until the death of one of my best friends. It really woke me up and changed me forever. His death was right after I turned 19. In between my first two books, Open Book to My Soul, and The Poetic Bible. By the time my second book was released I was in my last year of Junior College working three jobs, one at a Blockbuster, another at a local clothing store, and another as an Assistant Teen Mentor/Counselor, which I still do today. All of this while going to school full-time yet I still did not know myself or where I wanted to be in life.

Fast forward 3 degrees later, served as the President of a small Independent Record label, which no longer exist, started my own music career, lots of failures, lots of success. Failed one business because of many factors.

On my way to a huge break in my career, after 2 years of nonstop studying music. Creating 30 EPs in a year, over 1,000 beats made, starting and co-founding a new business, and co-founding another organization. My grandfather dies, a woman I was dealing with for a while broke up with me, and all of my progress stopped for a year to 6 months. My life had been turned upside down for the second time since I lost my best friend.

Then I had this dream. It was really multiple dreams and daydreams. But it was clear to me. Throughout my life, people have always come to me for advice. I had always sacrificed myself for others. Often I had sabotaged myself for others. I wanted to change that mindset and set myself up to fully live my dreams. I vowed since my Blockbuster days to never work for someone else. That vow I had kept, except for my job as a mentor. But still as I became more selfish, accomplished more and more. My brand grew, but yet I was not as successful as I wanted to be. But these dreams had woke me up. Awhile back I wrote down my life goals, and never realized how some of my actions were contradicting those goals. Two of my main goals were to one leave one of the greatest art portfolio across the board ever and to become a world teacher. The reality is neither of those could be accomplished by someone who is self-absorbed and self-centered. So I changed my mindset. I started to do charity, spend money on others, spend time on others, all while still working on me. Which leads me to you.

I am not some multi-millionaire. I did not grow up rich. I worked my butt off for everything I have and will achieve. I continue to do that even at this present moment. I have met a lot of people, I have been in great positions and have been in bad ones. My mission is to continue to grow my brand, create and release my products and projects. But I want to do that while helping as many people as I can do the same. I am not selling you a secret nor a pipe dream. It takes work. This is not instant gratification. At first it may appear that way. I am surrendering my information, and everything I know to you for 6 months and I am doing it for 15.00 dollars. Why? It shows me that you're serious if you are willing to pay that amount which is extremely low. It does not matter what industry you're in or what you want to accomplish, we will work together and go through it together. SHOW ME YOU WANT TO GROW, EXPAND, AND BECOME MORE SUCCESSFUL AND CREATIVE. BUT MORE IMPORTANT THAN THAT, SHOW YOURSELF.

Nothing will proceed until this app is completed and the questions are answered.

1. What motivates you to wake up everyday?
2. What makes you happy?
3. What makes you the most proud?
4. What I need to work on the most is?
5. What is stopping you from reaching your full potential?
6. Define success
7. If we were to focus on two things to help you succeed what would it be?
8. My areas of expertise that are real strengths include...
9. My main source of Income is?
10. The number of team members (manager, agents, assistants, publicists) I currently have is...
11. If you had a project promoted what would it be and why?

12. How much time do you dedicate to your business, brand or project?
13. How much money have you spent on your brand, business or project?
14. How much more money are you willing to spend?
15. How much money have you gained from your brand, business or project?
16. How much reading do you do per week?
17. How often do you research your craft?
18. Where do you see yourself in 5 years?
19. In order to be successful the first thing you have to START doing RIGHT NOW is?
20. In order to be successful the first thing you have to STOP doing RIGHT NOW is?
  - Send a 500 word bio, a Resume or Portfolio, and all social media links
  - SAVE THIS FILE TO YOUR COMPUTER FOR FUTURE REFERENCE
  - Thanks for completing this Questionnaire!